YOUR DESCRIPTION

Penpergwm House is named because of its position, which means head of the wooded valley. Until 1950 Penpergwm House was The Rectory for The Bryn village, from then until 1987 it became a private house and then a guesthouse.

Priscilla Llewelyn, the Registered Manager / Owner previously lived here and ran the guesthouse for several years.

In 1987 the house was adapted to residential accommodation initially for 16 residents which has now been extended to accommodate up to 30 people. Set in beautiful gardens, the appointments are luxurious and the location is excellent. There is a village close by with a church, social club, whist drives, pensioners club, WI and a public house within easy walking distance. There are also regular bus routes with a bus stop just outside the drive gates to the front of Penpergwm House.
