

Supported Living and Residential Homes

Specialists in care and support

Supported Living

Our dedicated Support Workers provide services for a large number of privately owned Learning Disability Units ranging from 'home living support' to 'challenging behaviour' where selecting the 'right person to support each client' and ensure 'specialist training' is critical.

Specialist Care

Highly trained Support Workers give full and part time support at home and in the community and have extensive practical experience across many different sectors that include behaviours that challenge, autistic spectrum disorders, complex health needs, physical disabilities and sensory impairment.

Residential Homes

Care of the elderly is a specialist area, requiring properly trained and experienced healthcare staff to deliver everyday personal care while enabling dignity and respect for those who have become unable to support themselves.

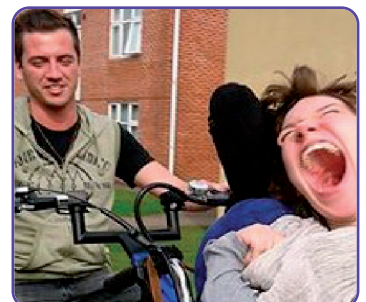

We pride ourselves on our extensive training and induction programme which introduces carefully chosen candidates to work in this healthcare area.

Flexible Workforce

Our flexible workforce is used to supplement your own staff network in times of staff emergencies, shortages or sickness.

Permanent recruitment team

We have a mature permanent recruitment team with a highly successful reputation in recruiting Managers and operational staff across the Care and Support Sector. We source and interview candidates and can conduct psychometric testing if required.

"Your support worker was able to outline to me the risks and vulnerabilities and showed full professionalism in her contact with her client. She was skilled, attentive, patient and kind to him despite him being very challenging and demanding. Her care was full of quality and excellent overall."
