About Eternal Homecare

Eternal Homecare has been in operation since 2021, offering home care services to adults aged 18 to 65 and seniors over the age of 65. Our services are designed to support individuals with social and health challenges, including dementia and mental health issues. We offer personalised, one-on-one care and support interventions to meet the needs of each individual.

In the UK, homecare is typically provided by local authorities or private providers, and is available to people of all ages, including older adults, people with disabilities, and those recovering from illnesses or injuries.

Homecare services can include assistance with activities of daily living, such as bathing, dressing, and toileting, as well as more specialised care for conditions such as dementia and Parkinson's disease.

Homecare can also include housekeeping and meal preparation, medication management, and transportation to appointments.

Did You Know?

The UK government is committed to increasing access to homecare services, with the goal of allowing more people to live independently and avoid unnecessary hospitalisation or institutionalisation.

The number of people receiving homecare in the UK has been steadily increasing in recent years, with over 1.5 million individuals currently receiving some form of homecare services.

The cost of homecare can vary depending on the type and level of services required, as well as the individual's financial situation. Some individuals may be eligible for government funding, while others may pay for services privately.

If you or a loved one is in need of homecare services, it is important to research your options and choose a reputable and qualified provider.

Why choose Eternal Homecare

It's important to find a care provider that you can trust to meet the needs of you or your loved one. At Eternal Homecare, our team of local carers is dedicated to providing the support and assistance you need. Our live-in carers are carefully chosen to ensure that they are a good fit for you and your family and are able to build strong, supportive relationships with clients. With a minimum of 1 year of experience and training in all aspects of care, including specialised support, you can trust that our carers are well-equipped to meet your needs. If there are specific things that are important to you, just let us know and we will do our best to find a carer who meets all of your requirements.

For over a decade, I have been involved in various aspects of social care, starting as a care worker and gradually advancing my skills and interests. I embraced the opportunity to work for a start-up company, I eagerly accepted and took on a diverse range of responsibilities, including recruitment, training, and participating in CQC inspections. This gave me valuable insights and expertise in the care industry, including a comprehensive understanding of local resources. My goal is to help people maintain their independence in their own homes, and my position enables me to achieve this.

Companionship

From giving you a hand with the weekly shop, accompanying you to your doctor's appointment or to your favourite social group or event, companionship is simply being there for you or your loved one.

Dementia care

Home care suits somebody living with a dementia, where continuity of life in the home they have grown to love is proven to be beneficial.

Live-In Care

For people who need round-the-clock care and want to remain in their own home, we can usually arrange a team of Carers to ensure that your relative is receiving attentive care 24 hours a day.

Personal Care

We understand that personal care can be a delicate matter and strive to ensure that our professional carers are discreet and build a close, personal relationship with our clients to make the experience as comfortable as possible.

Our Services

Spending time with your loved ones should be enjoyable and meaningful. It's okay to acknowledge that families may need assistance in caring for their loved ones and ensuring their safety and well-being. In fact, starting care early in the aging process can help prevent a decline in health. The ideal situation is for your loved one to remain in their own home, where they feel most comfortable and where cherished memories are kept, while family members can have peace of mind knowing that there is always someone there to help.

Additional Services Include

Home help and housekeeping
Palliative care services
Respite Care and Support
Services
NHS & Social Services

The key to our end-of-life care is making sure your loved one is comfortable and living life as they choose during the final months or days of their life.

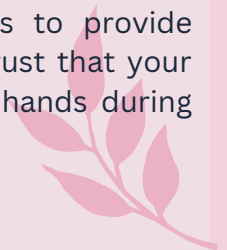

When facing a terminal illness or disease, most people prefer to remain at home where they feel comfortable and in control. This can be a difficult time for all involved, and our palliative care at home services are here to support your loved one and their family.

In addition to our home care services, our palliative care at home includes:

- Symptom management
- Oral care
- Mindfulness and relaxation techniques
- Grief and bereavement support

Our carers also work closely with other professionals such as doctors, hospice nurses, and social workers to provide end-of-life care. You can trust that your loved one will be in good hands during this sensitive time.

"Very professional and caring. Takes great care in providing exceptional carers who take pride in their caring roles. The manager of the agency may also step in if a carer is unable to attend because of personal issues. The manager is very accommodating and my mom has built up a great relationship with them."

"My uncle has now been with the company for nearly a year. They have gone above and beyond for him, he gets on well with all his carers. There are times I haven't been able to do things for him as having children and also caring for my mum, but Eternal are there and they will help no questions asked. Which to me is the best, as to feel that you have support as a whole."

"Mum is very happy with her carers, they always greet her cheerfully and talk to her with respect."

If the carers are going to be later than expected the manager will let me know so I can tell Mum, so she doesn't think she has been forgotten.

The manager is friendly to both Mum and us.

I would recommend Eternal Homecare Reading to others, based on the interaction with Mum."
